

DOUBLE PAGE.

THE ADVENTURES OF A GIRL. The windows of the dining-room were thrown widely open, as though to air it, and I saw some of those within laying the table for a meal. Plainly, I concluded,

BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

in the state of the savement, be turned hair round and once more raked the square with a suspictous eyeshot. The four destination, the young gentleman alighted, four destination, the young gentleman alighted, it has a save to the square with a suspictous eyeshot. The mufflings had fallen lower round his neck, the moon him; and I was startled to observe the pallor and passionate agitation of his face.

I now led a life of perfect quiet. My Henry had his weaknesses: I was twice driven to flee from his shone full upon him; and I was startled to observe the pallor and passionate agitation of his face.

I now led a life of perfect quiet. My Henry had his weaknesses: I was twice driven to flee from his shone full upon him; and I was startled to observe the pallor and passionate agitation of his face.

I could remain no longer passive. Persuaded that a dwith all his faults I loved him tenderly. At last appeal," an original modified mufflings had fallen lower round his neck, the moon shone full upon him; and I was startled to observe the pallor and passionate agitation of his face.

I could remain no longer passive. Persuaded that a dwith all his faults I loved him tenderly. At last appeal, and with all his faults I loved him tenderly. At last and with all his faults I loved him tenderly and found my way to the hasement. The kitchen door

"In God's name," I cried, "where am I."

He then told me I was in his house, where I was very welcome, and had no more urgent business than to rest myself and recover my spirits. As he spoke he offered me another glass of wine, of which inited. I stood in great want, for I was faint and inclined to be hysterical. Then he sat down heside the fire, lighted another cigar, and for some time observed me. "And now," said he, "that you have somewhat restored yourself, will you be kind enough to tell me."

Sying, he actually assured me, with his latest breath, that he forgave the violence of my temper.

On the death of Mr. Luxmore, I sought oblivion in the details of husiness. I believe I have mentioned that seven mansions, besides this, formed part of Mr. Luxmore sproperty; I have found them seven white elephants. I was plunged into a long series of law-suits, some of which are pending to this day.

If was after the loss of one of my temper.

On the death of Mr. Luxmore, I sought oblivion in the details of husiness. I believe I have mentioned that seven mansions, besides this, formed part of Mr. Luxmore part of Mr.

I see nothing for it but that I should return to-mortow morning and satisfy your landlady's demands."

"You strangely misinterpret my confidence," was my reply; "and if you had at all appreclated my chartaker, you would understand that I can take no money at your hands."

materials for a banquet and then departed. I interred an entertainment of some sort was to occur late that ovening to the house, where I waited, in an upper room, to see what might follow.

I was at my post at 10. Time fled; it struck on all the otty clocks; and presently after I was aware of

CHAPTER II.

The Odd Tenant.

One with anguish. "I nave no included with anguish." I nave no included Anywhere you like."

The Anywhere you like."

The object of the approach of a gentleman of stately and agreeable the approach of a gentleman of stately and agreeable demeanor. Before the door of this house he took a passkey from his pocket, quietly admitted himself, and disappeared into the lamp-lighted hall.

He was scarcely gone when I observed another and a much younger man approaching hastily from the possess nine thousand a year, the bouse in which we are not be at neighbor.

The odd Tenant.

cab had rolled away.
"I can very well imagine," replied my champion:
"and can assure you that you are now condemned to go where I have said for the first arrival.

"Pardon me." said he: "I offer you marriage." And the first arrival.

"Pardon me." said he: "I offer you marriage." And the first arrival.

"Pardon me." said he: "I offer you marriage." And the first arrival. "Pardon me." said he; "I offer you marriage." And as small as I could in the very densest of the shadow, missed him with a handsome fee. He then led me excited, his nature was palpable below the surface, bachelor occupancy, and hastened to pour out a glass be was taken from me; and such is the power of which he insisted on my drinking. As soon self-deception, and so strange are the whims of the house was closed but not fastened. It flashed of a modern European court, so new nat sying, he actually assured me, with his latest breath, upon me that the criminal was thus preparing his after the manner of "A Reyal Family,"

"And now." said he, "that you have somewhat regrown divided for the properties of the properties of into my habitual vivacity and humor, I rapidly nar-handsomely appointed, drawn by valuable horses. It drew up before my house, the door of which was imsubsequent misfortunes. He heard me to an end in mediately opened by one of the men. His companions tradictory theories and projects whirled together in revived Monday evening by the members Richman silence, gravely smoking.

"Miss Fanshawe," said he, when I had done, "you are a very comical and most enchanting creature; and lead to the house a variety of hampers, bottle-baskets and the house a variety of hampers, bottle-baskets and the companies of the members of the me

> Besides some general suggestions to govern the amateur gardener, this article gives a minute description of when

The necessary outfit of tools for length of drill, or number of plants:

Quantity of seed required: Beans, quart to 100 feet of drill; beans, pole, I quart to 100 hills; beets, 2 ounces to 100 feet of drill; carrots, I ounce to 100 feet of drill; colery, I ounce for 2.500 plants; sweet earn, I quart for 200 hills; leek. I ounce for 100 feet of drill; lettuce, 1-2 ounce for 1,500 plants;

melon. I ounce for 50 hills; onion, I ounce for 150 feet of drill; parsley.

I ounce for 100 feet of drill: parsnip, 1 ounce for 200 feet of drill; peas, I quart for 100 feet of drills radish,

I ounce for 100 feet of dritt Bulsify, 2 ounces for 100 feet of drill; spinach, 1

moderate-sized regetable garden costs to plant all regetables, and how.

atout $4.

my tenant was about to return.
They furnished the lower part of the house, left naterials for a banquet and then departed. I inferred possess nine thousand a year, the house in which we are now sitting, and seven others in the best neighborhood, and I had already enter-a the cab, my delivered collected out in clear tones the address of a house. The policeman, I could see, was statgered. This neighborhood, so retired, so aristocratic, was far from what he had expected. For all that, be took the number, and spoke for a few seconds and with a decided manner. I am already head over heels in love with a way; halted a second time, as If in painful indecision; and spoke for a few seconds and with a decided manner. I am already head over heels in love with a way; halted a second time, as If in painful indecision; and spoke for a few seconds and with a decided manner. I am already head over heels in love with a way; halted a second time, as If in painful indecision; and spoke for a few seconds and with a decided manner. and spoke for a few seconds and with a decided man-appear, I am already head over heels in love with and lastly, with a violent gesture, wheeled about, re-ner, in the cabman's ear.

go where I have said; for, should we attempt to change our destination by the way, the jarvey will his lips.

Pardon me: said he: I oner you marriage. And as small as I could in the very denset of the square and waited for the sequel. Nor had I long to wait.

From the same side of the square a second young unprepared, was confounded by an offer, not only so man made his appearance, waiking slowly and softly, and leve, the most horrible fright of my existence."

But my nerves, which he so much misjudged, were he was not only handsome in person, but his very cooling the softly handsome in person, but his very cooling the softly handsome in person, but his very cooling the starry that speech was not only handsome in person, but his very cooling the starry that speech was not only handsome in person, but his very cooling the starry that speech was not only handsome in person, but his very cooling the starry that speech was not only handsome in person, but his very cooling the starry that speech was not only handsome in person, but his very cooling the person had a charm; and, to make a long story short, on the starry that speech was not only handsome in person, but his very cooling the person had a charm; and, to make a long story short, of the passe person had a charm; and to make a long story short, of the person, but his very cooling the person had a charm; and the the first, muffled to the nose. Before the house he pause had less appearance, waiking slowly and softly.

I own I was confounded by an offer, not only so man made his appearance, waiking slowly and softly.

certain value on the good opinion of my cutertainer. Hoor. I here sat down to rest.

Beginning with a note of pathos, but soon brightening. I was recalled by the arrival of a large van, very see, with the most rapt attention. On a table before

NEXT WEEK AT THE THEATRES Two New Plays Will Be Produced.

The comedy is written in Wilde's williest to the Harlem Opera-House with vein and affords Miss Anglin and Mr. charming Clyde Flich comedy.

TEN LESSONS.

No. 1. How to Electric Wire a House

or a Flat

No. 2. How to Build a Boat

Garden.

No. 5. How to Start a Vegetable | CURRENT ATTRACTIONS.

No. 6. How to Build an Engine.

The merrymaking of the French operabouffe artists at the Victoria has caught the town, and Mr. Hammerstein's experiment is voted one of his happlest inspirations. The productions for the week will be "La Beile Helene," Monday and the Basti reaches the two-hundredth-mark Monday at the Breadway.—"The Toreatinspirations. The productions for the week will be "La Beile Helene," Monday Tibesday and Wednesday maxinee; "La Fille Du Mme Angot," Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday matinee, and "La Grande Duchesse" Saturday night.—"Deliy Varden' is booming along at the Helene in "Du Barry" continues and "La Grande Duchesse" Saturday night.—"The Hall of Fame' centinues at the Criterion with never a vacant seature of "Naman der Wise." On Thesiay Nime, Helene Odion, this German Bernhardt, will be seen in the German version of "The Ten Dail Surer." Wed-

Champion of England, 5 feet ligh. Sow in rows and the control of t

DAILY PUZZLE PICTURE.

MAKE YOUR OWN DRESS. MME. LOUISE TELLS HOW. t of the cloth and steel buttons. The col far is of embroidered batiste or linen,

Cindly suggest some way to remodel a black with a heavy lace edge. You will need slik waist that it may look more modern. It one-half yard of the batiste and one has a small round white yoke back and front, and a half yards of the lace. The trimined around with three rows of narrow postillions are plaited. Lay the plaits toward the centre and face them with white. The under side of the plaits shows very prettily. You can put a pretty yoke of embroidered chiffon in your waist. Allow it to extend to the sleeve, and a circular collar of lace will give you a broad look. The sleeves may be slashed at the hand and form four tabs. edging them with velvet ribbon. and have a puff to match the yoke under them. This may be added at the elbow also and a gauntlet cuff of lace just

BLUE SATIN FOULARD.

Dear Mme. Louise:
Kindly give me a description of a blue satte which requires little expense, is to make it box-plaited, stitching the box plaits silk, and using black velvet ribbon one-half inch wide in clusters of three rows ribbon, which sused down the between the box plaits. Have a tucked where it opens, blouse etyle. I flounce on the skirt, with the box plaits new white yoke, something very finishing in points at the heading. Trim

BY PETER DUFF, Head Gardener of Brighthurst, Orange, N. J. (Supplemented by general suggestions by J. M. Thorburn & Co., of this city.)

A complete list is here given of the quantity of seed required for a given frame is simply a frame set on the rutabaga middle of July.

ground, no bound

It is banked up on the own
the winter with sait hay, straw
the winter with sait hay, straw
the fall and young cabbage, cauliflower and lettuce plants are set out in it in time to get well established before very cold weather.

Peas—Extra early market, 2 1-2 feet high. Noti's excelsior. I foot high gradus, 3 feet high. Late.
Juno 1 1-2 feet high.
Champion of England, 5 feet high. Sow in rows about three inches deep.
The dwarf varieties can be parted about three varieties from four to five.

It dwarf varieties about one
be parted about three inches deep typically and the tailer
varieties from four to five.

It dwarf varieties about one
be parted about three
varieties from four to five.

It foot in the days up to the middle of the dwarf varieties about one security of the middle of the dwarf varieties and the tailer
varieties from four to five.

Sow in rows

A flux riches from four to five.

Sow in rows

Apart. Thin out to four plants in a hin and keep well earthed up, Make the part with second week in July
the second week and the second week in July
the second week in July
the second week and the second week in July
the second week the second week in July the second week the second week the se

UTILITY LESSONS-NO. V.

∠HOW TO PLANT A VEGETABLE GARDEN.

in succession.

Grow everything in a vegetable garden in "drills" or straight lines. The ground should be traced and kept clear of weeds constantly to keep it mellow. Where space and money will permit, much time is saved by starting certain plants in cold weather in a hotbed or even cold frame, the latter being convenient and cheap to make. The cold varieties and the row leads to breakfast, non-plus ultra. Sow every week up to middle of June. Then about Sept. I for fail use. Lettuce-Early big Hoston. For summer use Dearon, salamander, trianon cost Sow every two weeks. Thin to eight inches apart. Sow up to Sept. I.

Turnips-Early, early Milan purple cop, white egg. For winter use sow No. 3. How to Paper a Room. No. 4. How to Make a Dynamo.

The control for 10 feet of delight prefer to the control of the co